"I worked full-time while pursuing my CLD Master's Degree and found I was able to apply concepts I learned through my classes directly to work. After receiving my degree, I applied for a position with our local chamber to head up their leadership programming. I am confident my CLD degree helped me secure the job and I continue to use skills obtained through my CLD experience in my career today."

Amy Carrigton Stout | VP of Leadership Development, Commerce Lexington

"As a CLD Master's program graduate, I cultivated a non-formal method of community education during my thesis work. My committee helped me improve my critical and analytical thinking skills, sharpen my research abilities, and prepare me for my future work in academia."
