

What's the Story? Using Story Circles in Extension

Thursday, August 24th, 12:30 - 1:30 pm Eastern

Promoting Innovation Virtual Idea Symposium via ZOOM

For more information and register online:
https://bit.ly/Innovation_Session_Six or access via the QR code here:

In-service credit will be available for Extension agents for each live Zoom event you attend.

In many lines of work, professionals view themselves as problem solvers. They/we are trained to ask, "What's the problem?" In this session, we will focus on asking a different question: What's the story? In our time together we will use a "fishbowl" process to experience and debrief a practical tool called a "story circle," exploring how it might be adapted and utilized in community development, classroom and community-based education, and professional and organizational development.

Presenter:

Scott Peters, PhD, Professor, Department of Global Development at Cornell University, and Faculty Co-Director Emeritus of Imagining America: Artists and Scholars in Public Life

Host:

Nicole Breazeale, PhD, Associate Extension Professor, Department of Community and Leadership Development at the University of Kentucky

Spend your lunchtime with us for the Promoting Innovation Virtual Idea Symposium, a lunch-and-learn Zoom series with national speakers and experts in areas related to Extension in the Department of Community and Leadership Development at the University of Kentucky. Hosted by the Extension faculty in the UK Department of Community and Leadership Development, the once-a-week sessions will take place in July and August. Learn more at cld.ca.uky.edu/extension.

Scott Peters

Nicole Breazeale